A Community Service Program has existed at Riverview since the seventies. This program was a local initiative and involved the

ADMISSIONS POLICY FOR DECONCENTRATION

IX. DECONCENTRATION

The policy of the Traverse City Housing Commission is to house families in a manner that will prevent a concentration of families whose income is at or below extremely low income guidelines and/or concentrations of higher income in any one project or apartment community. The Traverse City Housing Commission will house no less than 40% of its admissions with families that have income at or below 30% of the area median income established by HUD for each apartment community. In addition, to ensure that concentrations of families with higher income levels, the Traverse City Housing Commission will house more than 60% of its units in any one apartment community with families whose income exceeds 30% of the area median income. The housing commission will track the status of family income on a monthly basis.

To accomplish this policy, an analysis of income and families in each apartment community will occur on an annual basis. This analysis will determine if special efforts must be instituted to achieve a deconcentration of poverty or target those families that have higher incomes. The housing commission will skip those applicants on the waiting list who do not meet the income targeting requirements as outlined in the deconcentration policy which is limiting admissions to not less than 40% of admissions to families at or below 30 % of area median income and not exceed 60% of families whose income exceeds 30% of area median income.
