To: Section 8 Housing Choice Voucher Program Applicants and Participants
From: Mora Housing Authority
Subject: Notice of YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN ACT

This notice is to inform you of your rights under the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA). This new law includes several provisions that address housing needs, which protect you if you are a victim of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. VAWA became law in January 2006 and applies to Section 8 Voucher program applicants and participants.

VAWA says that the HRA or a private landlord who accepts Section 8 Vouchers cannot deny housing assistance to a tenant or a tenant's immediate family member just because she or he is a victim or threatened victim of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. This means that if you have been denied housing assistance because of a bad rental history or police calls that directly results from domestic violence, dating violence or stalking, you should contact the HRA to assert your rights under VAWA.

VAWA also says that the HRA or a private landlord who accepts Section 8 Vouchers cannot terminate your voucher or evict you if the termination or eviction is the result of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. This means that if you have been threatened with termination of your Section 8 Voucher or eviction because of an abuser's actions toward you or your immediate family members, you should contact the HRA to assert your rights under VAWA.

VAWA also says the HRA may not terminate or deny a move under portability to a participant who is otherwise in compliance with program rules and has moved out of the assisted unit in violation of the lease to avoid harm from actual or threatened domestic violence, dating violence, or stalking. This means that the HRA may not deny a portability move if you violated previous assisted lease terms solely to flee domestic violence.

VAWA also says the HRA may request that you verify the actions are the result of domestic violence, dating violence or stalking. This means if a victim fails to provide certification or an acceptable alternative form of documentation within the time allotted by HRA, the victim is no longer entitled to the special protection from eviction or termination provided by VAWA.

The HRA and the private landlord who accepts the Section 8 Voucher program can evict or terminate the abuser and continue to work with you.

VAWA does not change the other rights and responsibilities of the HRA or private landlord to enforce Section 8 Voucher program requirements or the lease.

If you have questions about how to claim your rights under VAWA, you should contact the HRA or Legal Services in your community.

Attached is a list of the legal services and domestic violence resources for the Kanabec/Pine/Milaca areas.

Domestic Violence Victims' Right to Break the Lease

You can legally break your lease if you have been a victim of domestic violence and you do two things:

1. Give the landlord:
  - A copy of an Order for Protection of a No-Contact Order and;
  - A notice stating:
    - that you fear imminent abuse from the person named in the order
    - that you need to end the tenancy; and
    - the date you will leave.
2. Pay the rent for the month you move out and pay one additional month's rent.

You do not have to give your landlord any details about the abuse and your landlord does not have the right to block your moving. The law does not say how much notice you have to give, but you should give as much notice as possible.

Even if you do not do all of these things, you can still move and your landlord cannot force you to stay, but you still might owe rent to your landlord until the landlord rents to a new tenant.
