ii. Executive Summary of the Annual PHA Plan

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (r)]

Provide a brief overview of the information in the Annual Plan, including highlights of major initiatives and discretionary policies the PHA has included in the Annual Plan.

The following housing issues have been identified by the City of East Chicago:

- Among elderly minority households with incomes below 50% of median, Hispanics were most likely to experience housing problems and were less likely to be homeowners.
- Among small family households with incomes below 50% of the median, Hispanic renter households were most likely to experience substandard housing.
- Among large family households with incomes below 50% of median, housing problems were extremely high for minority and non-minority households alike with overcrowding the most likely problem. Homeownership among these households was also exceptionally low.
- While very low income renter households consisting of single persons and non-related persons living together accounted for one-fifth of all very low income households and experienced significant housing problems and degrees of cost-burden, there is essentially no federal, state or local programs to assist these households.
- Extremely low income non-elderly homeowners lived in substandard housing and were cost burdened.
- With only a small segment of low income large family renter households experiencing cost burden, the predominant housing problem is more than likely to be overcrowding among this household type.
- The waiting list for public housing units include households who are in need of subsidized, affordable housing.
- There exists an even greater need for rental assistance than public housing in East Chicago.

To assist the City in meeting its housing needs, the Housing Authority of the City of East City has included the following initiatives and policy changes in this annual plan:

1. Shortage of affordable housing for all eligible populations

Maximize the number of affordable units available to the PHA within its current resources by:

- a. Employ effective maintenance and management policies to minimize the number of public housing units off-line
 - Reduce turnover time for vacated public housing units
 - Reduce time to renovate public housing units
 - Undertake measures to ensure access to affordable housing among families assisted by the PHA, regardless of unit size required
 - Participate in the Consolidated Plan development process to ensure coordination with broader community strategies

2. Increase the number of affordable housing units by:

- Apply for additional section 8 units should they become available

3. Assisting families at or below 30% and 50% of median by:

Adopt rent policies to support and encourage work

4. Assisting Elderly by:

Apply for special-purpose vouchers targeted to the elderly, should they become available

5. Assisting Families with Disabilities by:

Carry out the modifications needed in public housing based on the section 504 Needs

Assessment for Public Housing

Affirmatively market to local non-profit agencies that assist families with disabilities

6. Assisting Races or ethnicities with disproportionate housing needs by:

Increasing awareness of PHA resources among families of races and ethnicities with disproportionate needs by affirmatively market to races/ethnicities shown to have disproportionate housing needs

7. Conducting activities to affirmatively further fair housing by:

Counsel section 8 tenants as to location of units outside of areas of poverty or minority concentration and assist them to locate those units

Market the section 8 program to owners outside of areas of poverty /minority concentrations

Factors influencing the Housing Authority's selection of the strategies are:

- Funding constraints
- Staffing constraints
- Evidence of housing needs as demonstrated in the Consolidated Plan and other information available to the housing authority
- Results of consultation with local or state government
- Results of consultation with residents and the Resident Advisory Board

The Housing Authority has revised its Policies Governing Eligibility, Selection, and Admissions to comply with the Quality Housing and Work Responsibility Act of 1998 and to specifically accomplish the following goals:

- Deconcentration of Poverty and Income-Mixing in Public Housing and Section 8

- Intensified screening and resident selection criteria to reduce crime and to promote self-sufficiency among the public and Section 8 residents
 - Promotion of choice in rental payment to encourage higher income residents
- Asset management activities during Year 1 of the Agency Plan are:
- Capital improvements in developments IN 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, and 9.
 - The development of a Section 8 voucher homeownership program

1. Statement of Housing Needs

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (a)]

A. Housing Needs of Families in the Jurisdiction/s Served by the PHA

Based upon the information contained in the Consolidated Plan/s applicable to the jurisdiction, and/or other data available to the PHA, provide a statement of the housing needs in the jurisdiction by completing the following table. In the "Overall" Needs column, provide the estimated number of renter families that have housing needs. For the remaining characteristics, rate the impact of that factor on the housing needs for each family type, from 1 to 5, with 1 being "no impact" and 5 being "severe impact." Use N/A to indicate that no information is available upon which the PHA can make this assessment.

Source: 1995-1999, Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) for the City of East Chicago, IN

In 1993, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development provided modified data from the 1990 U. S. Census for the City of East Chicago. This data, originally included in the Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) for 1993-1999, clearly identifies those residents of the City that were experiencing problems with housing. Identifiable problems included cost burden, which is paying in excess of 30% of income for housing costs; lack of a complete kitchen; lack of complete plumbing; or overcrowding (1.01 or more persons per room). Based on this information, these households are ill-housed and in need of some form of assistance to alleviate their housing problems.

The CHAS also includes a summary of the number of households in each income category by tenure (owner or renter) and household type (large family, small family, etc.) and the percent of such households that had a housing problem. The needs of various households, by household type within each income category were also described. The extent to which the households within each group were cost-burdened and severely cost-burdened, and/or living in substandard housing was examined. And, the extent to which such problems impacted racial and ethnic groups was reviewed.

Categories Of Persons Affected

Very Low Income

Very low income households are defined as those with incomes of less than 50% of the area median income. In East Chicago in 1990, very low income families were those with incomes up to $18,461 for a family of four. Within this group were also extremely low income households whose incomes were less than 30% of median (that is, less than $11,076).

There were 5,072 very low income households representing 42% of all households in East Chicago in 1990. Renters outnumbered owners nearly 3 to 1 with renter incomes of 0-30% outnumbering renter incomes of 31% - 50% by more than 2 to 1. In other words, the greatest percentage of households fell into the lowest income category in 1990. A discussion of each household type and its circumstances follows.

Very Low Income Elderly

Very low income elderly households accounted for 21% of all very low income renter households and 74% of all elderly households. An elderly household is one with one or two members (family or non-family) with a head of household or spouse age 62 or older. The needs of very low income elderly households include:

The need for subsidized rental housing:

- elderly renter households were living in physically inadequate housing units and were cost burdened.
- 69% of extremely low income elderly renter households were paying more than 30% of their income on housing costs; 32% of these were paying more than 50% of their income.
- 64% of all very low income renter households reported housing problems.

The need for cash assistance to support housing costs:

- elderly homeowners were cost-burdened and had difficulty maintaining their homes.
- 53% of all very low income elderly homeowners reported housing problems.
- 71% of all extremely low income elderly homeowners were paying more than 30% of their income on housing expenses; thus, it can be assumed that these households had scarce resources, if any, to maintain and repair their homes.

Minority households among very low income elderly renters accounted for 18% of all elderly households in the City, non-Hispanic blacks accounted for 19% and Hispanic households 17%. The rate of housing problems reported by this group was relative to non-minority households with 69% of all minority very low income elderly renter households reporting some type of housing problem. However, a distinction was made among non-Hispanic blacks at 58% and Hispanics at a significantly higher rate of 88%.

Minority elderly homeowners represented 52% of all elderly very low income homeowners with non-Hispanic black homeowners outnumbering Hispanic homeowners 65% to 37%. Within this income group, elderly homeowners composed the largest group among family types. Reported housing problems were high among this group with nearly 63% of all minority homeowners experiencing housing problems. The incidence of substandard housing was approximately the same between non-Hispanic blacks (62%) and Hispanics (66%).

Issue: Among elderly minority households with incomes below 50% of median, Hispanics were most likely to experience housing problems and were less likely to be homeowners,

Very Low Income Small Families

Very low income small family households accounted for 57% of all small family renters and 46% of all very low income renter households. Small family households are comprised of 2 to 4 related family members. Extremely low income small family renters outnumbered very low income by more than 3.5 to 1. The needs of this household group are similar to the elderly and include:

Need for subsidized rental housing:

- small family renter households were living in physically inadequate housing units and were cost-burdened.

- 68% of all extremely low income small family renter households were paying more than 30% of their income on housing costs;
- 48% were paying more than 50% of their income.
- 70% of extremely low income households reported housing problems in 1990; the rate among very low income was significantly lower at 41%.

Separate data for very low income small family homeowners were not available.

Minority households among very low income small family renters accounted for 50% of all very low income minority renter households in the City. Non-Hispanic blacks represented 51% of all very low income minority renters; Hispanic households included 49%. Housing problems among this group was relative in comparison to all very low income small family renter households with the exception of Hispanics where 77% reported housing problems.

Minority households among very low income small family homeowners accounted for 24% of this group with non-Hispanic blacks at 17% and Hispanics at 34%. Housing problems were the lowest for this very low income household size: all minority-headed households 40%, non-Hispanic blacks 39% and Hispanics 41%.

Issue: Among small family households with incomes below 50% of the median, Hispanic renter households were most likely to experience substandard housing.

Low Income Large Families

Very low income large family households accounted for only 13% of all very low income renter households but represented over 59% of all large family renter households in the City. A large family household is one with five or more related individuals living together. Extremely low income large family renters numbered 302 or 62% of all very low income large family renters. The housing assistance needs of this group were the same as for the previous groups discussed and include:

Need for subsidized rental housing:

- very low income large family rental households were living in physically inadequate housing units and were cost-burdened.
- 79% of extremely low income large family renters were paying more than 30% of their income on housing costs; 46% were spending in excess of 50% of their income.
- 90% of extremely low and 96% of very low income large family renters reported problems with their housing.

Minority large family renters accounted for 14% of all very low income renter households: 13% were non-Hispanic black households and 16% were Hispanics. Among these renters, reported housing problems were by far the highest for this income group: 92% for all minorities, 89% among non-Hispanic blacks and 96% among Hispanics. Even among all large family renter households (minority and non-minority), 93% reported housing problems.

The incidence of overcrowding among this household size was significantly higher than among all other household sizes combined: among all renters, 9% experienced housing problems versus 54% for all large family renters. For homeowners, the incidence of overcrowding was substantially less: 5% for all owners versus 8% for all large family homeowners.

Homeownership among large family households with incomes below 50% of the median was extremely low. Only 7% of all very low income large family households Citywide were homeowners in 1990; among all minority-headed households, the rate was 13%. Hispanics were five times as likely to own a home as compared to non-Hispanic blacks. However, the rate for these two groups was still substantially low at 21% and 4%, respectively. Housing problems among this group were also exceptionally high with 81% of all minority-headed large family homeowners experiencing housing problems, 53% among non-Hispanic blacks and 85% among Hispanics.

Issue: Among large family households with incomes below 50% of median, housing problems were extremely high for minority and non-minority households alike with overcrowding the most likely problem. Homeownership among these households was also exceptionally low.

Very Low All Other Renter Households

All other renter households include persons who reside together but who are not related to each other, as well as single person, non-elderly households. There were 730 such households in 1990, representing nearly 20% of all very low income renter households in East Chicago. Nearly 70% of these households had incomes less than 30% of the area median. Seventy-three percent (73%) of the extremely low income reported housing problems with their rental units. Sixty-three percent (63%) of those with incomes between 31% and 50% of median reported housing problems and 55% were cost-burdened.

Separate data for minority representation among very low income all other renter households were not available.

This group of households is not generally eligible for publicly assisted housing units unless an individual has a recognized disability. The need for another form of low cost, decent housing exists for this population segment. Single room occupancy (SRO) housing, shared housing or another alternative would be appropriate.

Issue: While very low income renter households consisting of single persons and non-related persons living together accounted for one-fifth of all very low income households and experienced significant housing problems and degrees of cost-burden, there is essentially no federal, state or local programs to assist these households.

Very Low Income All Other Owners

All very low income homeowners whose head of household is under age 65 are counted in this population segment, which accounted for 35% of all very low income homeowners. In other words, elderly homeowners outnumbered small family, large family and all other homeowners combined by nearly 2 to 1. Very low income all other owners were nearly evenly divided between the 0-30% and the 31%-50% income groups. However, a significantly higher number of extremely low income owners (68%) reported problems with their homes than very low income homeowners (44%). Sixty-one percent (61%) of those with incomes of 0-30% of median were cost-burdened; the rate among very low income was substantially lower at 38%.

Very low income homeowners need assistance in maintaining and improving the physical conditions of their homes. With severely limited incomes, most of these homeowners do not have sufficient finances to pay for anything beyond their most basic needs. Subsequently, home repairs and maintenance work fall by the wayside. Programs which provide the necessary assistance to these homeowners include housing rehabilitation and weatherization, as well as fuel and utility assistance programs help to off-set monthly housing costs.

Issue: Extremely low income non-elderly homeowners lived in substandard housing and were cost-burdened

Low Income

Households with incomes between 51% and 80% are considered low income; in East Chicago, households with income levels between $18,462 and $29,537 were categorized as low income households. In 1990 there were 2,190 low income households, representing 18% of all households. This income group was evenly divided among homeowners and renters. In contrast to very low income households, low income households were less likely to be cost-burdened with only 9% of all renters paying more than 30% of their income on housing costs and no households reported paying more than 50% of their income, compared to 58% to 73% of very low income renters. Low income renters were also less likely to have housing problems.

Among homeowners, housing problems were again much less likely among low income households (18%) in contrast to very low income households (42% to 70%).

Racial and ethnic information on low income households was not provided by HUD and is not available from other sources.

Low Income Elderly

Low income elderly renter households numbered 153 in 1990, accounting for 14% of all low income renters and 15% of all elderly households in East Chicago. Only 13% of elderly low income renters paid more than 30% of their income on housing costs with no households reporting severe cost-burden.

Low income elderly homeowner households accounted for nearly one-half of all low income homeowners but experienced significantly fewer problems than other low income homeowners. Only 6% of elderly homeowners reported housing problems and only 4% were cost-burdened.

The housing needs of low income elderly households should be predominantly addressed to renters. With elderly renters carrying the heaviest cost burden, subsidized rental housing would lessen their monthly housing expenses. Elderly homeowners may also benefit from rehabilitation, weatherization and utility assistance programs, although the need among this group appears to be relatively modest.

Low Income Small Families

Low income small family renter households accounted for a majority (51%) of low income renters and 18% of all small family renter households in 1990. Housing problems among this group were comparatively less than most other groups. Only 8% reported housing problems compared to 41% to 70% of very low income small family renters. Only 7% were cost-burdened with no small family renters paying 50% or more of their income on housing expenses.

Separate data on low income small family homeowners were not available.

Subsidized housing would provide financial relief to those small family renters who are cost-burdened.

Low Income Large Families

Low income large family renter households comprised only 15% of this population and 20% of all large family renters. However, housing problems were the most severe among this group in comparison with other low income renters. Sixty-three percent (63%) experienced housing problems but only 10% were cost-burdened. (This would suggest a problem with the condition of the housing units occupied by these households.) No large family renters paid 50% or more of their income on housing costs.

Separate data on low income large family homeowners were not available.

Subsidized housing would provide financial relief to those large family renters who are cost-burdened. In addition, financial assistance to property owners interested in rehabilitating their units up to code standards and renting the units to low income tenants would assist this group.

Issue: With only a small segment of low income large family renter households experiencing cost-burden, the predominant housing problem is more than likely to be overcrowding among this household type

Other Low Income All Other Renter Households

There were 213 low income renters in 1990, representing 20% of all low income renter households. Single persons and unrelated individuals living together comprised the largest category of low income renters. This group experienced only modest need in comparison to other low income renter households: only 9% had problems with their units and only 9% were cost-burdened. There were no low income all other renter households paying more than 50% of their income toward housing costs.

Subsidized housing would provide financial relief to these renters who are cost-burdened. However, ineligibility for rental assistance (particularly public housing) makes this a difficult group to house. A wider range of housing selection, including SRO and shared housing options, could assist in meeting the needs of such households.

Low Income All Other Homeowner Households

Low income all other homeowners accounted for 54% of low income homeowners and only 15% of homeowner households in East Chicago in 1990. This category of the population included small family and large family homeowner households. This group of homeowners experienced housing problems of a greater degree than low income elderly homeowners. Twenty-seven percent (27%) reported problems with their housing units and 15% were cost-burdened.

This group of homeowners would benefit from a housing rehabilitation program to assist them in maintaining their units in an affordable manner. Household budget counseling and home maintenance training would also be beneficial.

Need For Supportive Housing

Supportive housing is defined as residential units that provide a planned services component with access to a range of services identified as necessary for the resident to achieve personal goals. Various populations with special needs require supportive housing. The general needs of these persons are described below.

Elderly and Frail Elderly

When a person has one or more limitations on activities of daily living (ADL), he or she may need assistance to perform routine activities of daily living and therefore, can be considered frail. Elderly persons may need housing assistance for two reasons - financial and supportive. Supportive housing is needed when an elderly person is both frail and very low income since the housing assistance offers services to compensate for the frailty in addition to the financial assistance.

An estimate of the number of frail elderly requiring supportive services can be obtained by applying the national prevalency statistics for the proportion of elderly that require assistance with daily living skills to the number of elderly in the City who are very low income.

There were 4,483 persons age 65 and older in the City in 1990. Many of these were members of the 1,653 very low income owner and renter households shown on CHAS Table 1C. Applying the national prevalency statistic of 14.4% of all elderly who require assistance with daily living skills to this very low income population reveals a potential 238 elderly very low income frail elderly persons who may require assisted housing in East Chicago.

Need For Public And Assisted Housing

In East Chicago there exists a substantial waiting list of persons who wish to rent a public housing unit. As of January 1995 there was a total of 191 applicants waiting for units. The applicant households are categorized below. ECHA's greatest need is for small family units and handicapped accessible units.

Issue: The waiting list for public housing units renter households who are in need of subsidized, affordable housing.

There is also a substantial waiting list for Section 8 rental housing in East Chicago with 540 applicants. The greatest need is for small family housing units.

Issue: There exists an even greater need for rental assistance than public housing in East Chicago.

Homeownership Needs

The need for expanded homeownership opportunities is very evident in East Chicago. With a current homeownership rate of less than 50% Citywide, there is, for many reasons, insufficient opportunity for homeownership among household types of various income levels. This situation may contribute to the low turnover among Section 8 certificate and voucher holders. Section 8 tenant households in East Chicago generally retain the housing subsidies for a long and indefinite periods of time. Rather than using the Section 8 Program as a means to an end (i.e., homeownership and self-sufficiency), nearly all households remain within the program for many years. Perhaps, many households remain on the subsidy program because of the lack of decent, affordable housing opportunities in the City.

Expanded homeownership opportunities for low and moderate income households will be explored and implemented through the Five-Year Strategy for the City's CP. With the receipt of HOME entitlement funds, the City is better positioned to offer increased homeownership services and programs to eligible low and moderate income residents. Additionally, the City is planning to foster the development of new housing and homeownership opportunities for middle income households. With its convenient proximity to the employment center of metropolitan Chicago, East Chicago is in a good position to offer affordable housing for persons and families who work in Chicago but choose not to live in the city for a variety of reasons. There is also a growing concern that many of the young professionals who are originally from East Chicago and are now returning to live, work and raise their own families in their hometown cannot find suitable, decent housing within a reasonable price range. These are the households the City is very interested in retaining as tax-paying, economically independent households.

Anticipated Changes In Housing Needs

An economic development report recently completed by Mayor Pastrick's Gaming Task Force indicated that the placement of a riverboat casino in the East Chicago lakefront area is anticipated to stimulate other economic activities across the City, such as recreational development, housing and commercial development. A total of 1,900 jobs are expected to be created with a majority of these being made available to qualified East Chicagoans. However, with a 1993 unemployment rate of 11.9% in East Chicago, it can be presumed that many residents who are presently underemployed or unemployed will take jobs at the casino. It is also presumed that for the time being, many of the locally employed residents will remain in their current housing unit.

However, with increased wages and the opportunity for better employment in the future, the City does anticipate the need for additional market-rate rental housing, newly constructed housing for homeownership and additional small scale, multi-family housing units.

Summary of Identified Issues/Estimated Housing Needs for 1995-1999

The following issues, highlighted throughout this section of the document, will assist the City in determining the goals and objectives to be established for the development of the Five-Year Strategy and the One-Year Action Plan for 1995.

- Among elderly minority households with incomes below 50% of median, Hispanics were most likely to experience housing problems and were less likely to be homeowners.
- Among small family households with incomes below 50% of the median, Hispanic renter households were most likely to experience substandard housing.
- Among large family households with incomes below 50% of median, housing problems were extremely high for minority and non-minority households alike with overcrowding the most likely problem. Homeownership among these households was also exceptionally low.
- While very low income renter households consisting of single persons and non-related persons living together accounted for one-fifth of all very low income households and experienced significant housing problems and degrees of cost-burden, there is essentially no federal, state or local programs to assist these households.
- Extremely low income non-elderly homeowners lived in substandard housing and were cost burdened.
- With only a small segment of low income large family renter households experiencing cost burden, the predominant housing problem is more than likely to be overcrowding among this household type.

- The waiting list for public housing units include households who are in need of subsidized, affordable housing.
- There exists an even greater need for rental assistance than public housing in East Chicago.

C. Strategy for Addressing Needs

Provide a brief description of the PHA's strategy for addressing the housing needs of families in the jurisdiction and on the waiting list IN THE UPCOMING YEAR, and the Agency's reasons for choosing this strategy.

To assist the City in meeting its housing needs, the Housing Authority of the City of East City has included the following initiatives and policy changes in this annual plan:

1. Shortage of affordable housing for all eligible populations

Maximize the number of affordable units available to the PHA within its current resources by:

- Employ effective maintenance and management policies to minimize the number of public housing units off-line
- Reduce turnover time for vacated public housing units
- Reduce time to renovate public housing units
- Undertake measures to ensure access to affordable housing among families assisted by the PHA, regardless of unit size required
- Participate in the Consolidated Plan development process to ensure coordination with broader community strategies

2. Increase the number of affordable housing units by:

Apply for additional section 8 units should they become available

3. Assisting families at or below 30% and 50% of median by:

Adopt rent policies to support and encourage work

4. Assisting Elderly by:

Apply for special-purpose vouchers targeted to the elderly, should they become available

5. Assisting Families with Disabilities by:

- Carry out the modifications needed in public housing based on the section 504 Needs
- Assessment for Public Housing
- Affirmatively market to local non-profit agencies that assist families with disabilities

6. Assisting Races or ethnicities with disproportionate housing needs by:

Increasing awareness of PHA resources among families of races and ethnicities with disproportionate needs by affirmatively market to races/ethnicities shown to have disproportionate housing needs

7. Conducting activities to affirmatively further fair housing by:

- Counsel section 8 tenants as to location of units outside of areas of poverty or minority concentration and assist them to locate those units
- Market the section 8 program to owners outside of areas of poverty /minority concentrations

Factors influencing the Housing Authority's selection of the strategies are:

- Funding constraints
- Staffing constraints
- Evidence of housing needs as demonstrated in the Consolidated Plan and other information available
- Results of consultation with local or state government
- Results of consultation with residents and the Resident Advisory Board

- Deconcentration of Poverty and Income-Mixing in Public Housing and Section 8
- Intensified screening and resident selection criteria to reduce crime and to promote self-sufficiency among the public and Section 8 residents
- Promotion of choice in rental payment to encourage higher income residents

Asset management activities during Year 1 of the Agency Plan are:

- Capital improvements in developments IN 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, and 9.

In an effort to reduce the Housing Authority's dependency on the Federal government for rental subsidy, the Housing Authority has elected to establish the following local preferences:

Working Family. An applicant family or individual whose head of the household is working minimum of twenty-five (25) hours per week will be given a priority over an applicant who is not employed. The working family must have been employed for the past twelve (12) months and agree to remain employed during his/her tenancy. The Housing Authority will give appropriate consideration to adjusting the minimum work hours if the family is also attending an education or job-training class. The applicants given a preference under this category are required to register with the Housing Authority's Family Self-Sufficiency Program once housed by the Authority. This preference will be limited to a maximum of fifty percent (50%) of the applicants housed within a given Housing Authority fiscal year 5 points will be given for this preference.

In-Training Family. An applicant family or individual whose head of the household is already regularly attending a bona-fide job training program, a college for a minimum of nine (9) credit hours or an adult education GED class will be given a priority. These applicants must also register with and fully participate in the Housing Authority's Family Self-Sufficiency Program until they complete their training/education programs and become employed in a job. 5 points will be given for this preference.

Involuntarily Displaced Family. An applicant family involuntarily displaced as a result of a natural disaster, government action, HUD disposition, The Housing Authority modernization/disposition, witness protection program, domestic violence/hate crimes or certain actions by the landlord will be given priority. The involuntary action must be beyond the applicant family's ability to control or prevent. If an applicant family voluntarily vacates his/her unit for personal reasons or is evicted for any lease violations, he/she will not qualify for this preference 5 points will be given for this preference.

Elderly, Handicapped or Disabled Family. An applicant family whose head of the household is defined as elderly, disabled or handicapped by HUD definitions and receives Social Security or SSI will be given a preference. 5 points will be given for this preference. A family or individual who has applied for or is living in a public housing unit, but whose special needs can not be economically met in one of the public housing sites will receive a preference under the Section 8 program.

Elderly, disabled, or displaced over other singles. The Housing Authority shall continue the statutory admissions preference of the elderly, disabled, or displaced over other singles set forth in 24 CFR 912.3 and 950.301(d) of the program regulations. The Housing Authority gives preference to a family (a) whose sole member is a displaced person or (b) whose head or spouse or sole member is an elderly person or a disabled person over a single person that is not elderly, disabled, or displaced.

Applicants who have been verified as eligible to receive housing assistance will be placed on the Housing Authority's community-wide Waiting List in sequence based upon their total preference points, time and date of their applications and suitable type or size of unit needed. The Housing Authority's Local Preference system has been designed to attain HUD's goal of housing families with a broad range of incomes and avoiding concentrations of the most economically deprived families.

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (d)]

A. Public Housing

Exemptions: PHAs that do not administer public housing are not required to complete sub-component 4A.

(1) Income Based Rent Policies

Describe the PHA's income based rent setting policy/ies for public housing using, including discretionary (that is, not required by statute or regulation) income disregards and exclusions, in the appropriate spaces below.

a. Use of discretionary policies: (select one)

- The PHA will not employ any discretionary rent-setting policies for income based rent in public housing. Income-based rents are set at the higher of 30% of adjusted monthly income, 10% of unadjusted monthly income, the welfare rent, or minimum rent (less HUD mandatory deductions and exclusions). (If selected, skip to sub-component (2))

---or---

- The PHA employs discretionary policies for determining income based rent (If selected, continue to question b.)

b. Minimum Rent

1. What amount best reflects the PHA's minimum rent? (select one)

 $1-$25
 $26-$50

2. Yes No: Has the PHA adopted any discretionary minimum rent hardship exemption policies?

3. If yes to question 2, list these policies below:

Admissions and Continued Occupancy Policy and Procedure: The Housing Authority shall grant an exemption from payment of this minimum rent if the family is unable to pay that rent as a result of financial hardship, as described in the responsible entity's written policies.

Financial hardship. The financial hardships shall include the following: suspend the minimum rent requirement immediately, until the Housing Authority determines whether there is a qualifying financial hardship and whether the hardship is long-term.

Determination of Temporary Financial Hardship. If the Housing Authority determines that there is a qualifying hardship, but that it is temporary, the Housing Authority reinstates the minimum rent from the time of suspension. The Housing Authority will not evict the family for nonpayment of the amount of minimum rent in excess of tenant rent otherwise payable during the 90-day period beginning on the date the family requested an exemption. The Housing Authority will offer the family a reasonable repayment agreement for the amount of back rent owed.

If the Housing Authority determines there is no qualifying hardship exemption, the Housing Authority shall reinstate the minimum rent including the back payment for minimum rent from the time of suspension on terms and conditions established by the Housing Authority.

The Housing Authority recognizes that this requirement may impose severe hardships for some assisted families that have adjusted monthly incomes so low that their rental obligation is below the "minimum rent" charged. These families may be unable to pay the "minimum rent," which in turn may expose them to eviction for nonpayment.

Therefore the Housing Authority shall take action to ensure that families with severe hardships are not evicted specifically as a result of their inability to pay the new minimum rents.

c. Rents set at less than 30% than adjusted income

1. Yes No: Does the PHA plan to charge rents at a fixed amount or percentage less than 30% of adjusted income?

2. If yes to above, list the amounts or percentages charged and the circumstances under which these will be used below:

Fixed percentage (other than general rent-setting policy)

If yes, state percentage/s and circumstances below:

For other family members

For transportation expenses

For the non-reimbursed medical expenses of non-disabled or non-elderly families

Other (describe below)

The following permissive deductions, to the extent these amounts have not already been deducted from annual income or reimbursed to the family from other sources, are:

- Excessive travel expenses, in an amount not to exceed $25 per family per week for travel related to employment, education, or training.
- An amount of a family's earned income, based on any of the following:
 - (i) All the earned income of the family;
 - (ii) The amount earned by particular members of the family;

(2) Minimum Rent

a. What amount best reflects the PHA's minimum rent? (select one)

 $1-$25
 $26-$50

b. Yes No: Has the PHA adopted any discretionary minimum rent hardship exemption policies? (if yes, list below)

Admissions and Continued Occupancy Policy and Procedure: The Housing Authority shall grant an exemption from payment of this minimum rent if the family is unable to pay that rent as a result of financial hardship, as described in the responsible entity's written policies.

Financial hardship. The financial hardships shall include the following: suspend the minimum rent requirement immediately, until the Housing Authority determines whether there is a qualifying financial hardship and whether the hardship is long-term.

These families may be unable to pay the "minimum rent," which in turn may expose them to eviction for nonpayment.

Therefore the Housing Authority shall take action to ensure that families with severe hardships are not evicted specifically as a result of their inability to pay the new minimum rents.

D. Reserved for Community Service Requirement pursuant to section 12(c) of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937

Community Services and Economic Self-sufficiency Requirement

The 1998 Act adds a new requirement for non-exempt residents of public housing. Each non-exempt adult (eighteen years of age or older) resident must contribute eight (8) hours for each month of community service or participate in a self-sufficiency program for 8 hours in each month. Community service is service for which the individual volunteers. Self-Sufficiency Participation in self-sufficiency activities can satisfy part or all of a resident's requirement to perform community service. A non-exempt adult public housing resident may participate in an economic self-sufficiency program for 8 hours in each month. The 1998 Act defines economic self-sufficiency program to include activities that are designed to encourage, assist, train or facilitate economic independence.

a. Approved community services and economic self-sufficiency activities.

Each year, the ECHA shall, with the assistance of the resident organization (s), look at a broad range of self-sufficiency and community service activities. A list of acceptable self-sufficiency and community service activities shall be posted at the the ECHA office.

b. Exemptions to the requirement for community services and economic self-sufficiency.

These include adults who are 62 years of age or older, persons with disabilities, persons engaged in work activities (as defined by section 407(d) of the Social Security Act), and persons participating in a welfare to work program, or receiving assistance from and in compliance with a State program funded under part A, title IV of the Social Security Act. (For purposes of the community service requirement, an adult is a person 18 years or older.)

Persons eligible for a disability deduction are not necessarily automatically exempt from the community service requirement. The 1998 Act defines "disability" very narrowly for the purpose of the community service requirement. Further, the Act states that a person is exempt only to the extent the disability makes the person "unable to comply" with the community service requirement. The ECHA shall ensure that the community service and self-sufficiency programs are accessible to persons with disabilities.

Families who pay flat rent, live in public housing units within market rate developments, or families who are over income when they initially occupy a public housing unit are not automatically exempt.

c. Determining and documenting residents' exemptions.

The ECHA shall verify an adult's exemption status upon admissions and annually. An individual exempt by being over 62 years in age would not need verification. The ECHA shall document all exemptions for the resident's file. The ECHA shall follow the same standards of documentation for exemptions as it does for other verifications.

d. Changing exemption status.

A resident is permitted to change exemption status during the year if his/her situation changes. Unemployed residents, for example, shall be able to request a determination of exemption if they find work or start a training program. Persons eligible for a disability deduction are not necessarily automatically exempt from the community service, economic self-sufficiency requirement.

e. Community Services Lease Requirements.

Under the 1998 Act, public housing leases must have 12 month terms. The lease must be automatically renewable except for noncompliance with the community service requirements. The public housing lease also must provide for termination and eviction for noncompliance with the community service requirements. The ECHA shall implement this provision for each family at the family's next regularly scheduled annual reexamination on or after October 1, 1999, and for families admitted after October 1, 1999. The PHA may not renew or extend the lease if a household contains a nonexempt adult who has failed to comply with the community service requirement.

f. Documentation

Documentation must be provided to verify the community service requirements. The documentation shall be placed in the resident's file at the time of reexamination.

g. Noncompliance

The ECHA shall determine, on an annual basis, if non-exempt residents are in compliance. The ECHA shall permit noncompliant families to cure the noncompliance by requiring the noncompliant adult and the head of household to sign an agreement to make up the hours needed within the next 12-month period. Continued noncompliance will result in eviction of the entire family, unless the noncompliant family member is no longer a part of the household

[24 CFR Part 903.7 9 (n)]

Pet Policy

A. Applicability

The following policies are established to govern the keeping of pets by ECHA residents in and on properties owned and operated by the ECHA. These requirements will be incorporated in the Pet Permit and will be an addendum to the Residential Dwelling lease; violation of these regulations shall constitute a violation of said Lease.

B. Introduction

Both elderly and non-elderly families are permitted to keep common household pets in their dwelling units in accordance with the terms and conditions of their leases, applicable Indiana laws or regulations governing the owning or keeping of common household pets in dwelling accommodations and the ECHA policies, rules and procedures governing the owning and keeping of such pets in dwelling accommodations.

No one shall be denied admission to or continued occupancy to housing by reason of the person's ownership of a common household pet or the presence of such in that person's dwelling unit except in instances of refusal or failure to comply with State and local laws and rules and the ECHA policies, rules and procedures regarding the keeping of such pets.

Rules governing the owning and keeping of such are established for the purpose of providing a decent, safe and sanitary living environment for existing and prospective tenants, protecting the health and safety of the ECHA employees and the public, protecting and preserving the physical condition of the tenant units and general premises of properties, and protecting the authority's financial interest in its properties.

C. Definitions

Common household pet means a domesticated animal, limited to a cat, dog, bird, small fish or turtle, that is traditionally kept in the home for pleasure rather than for commercial purposes. Common household pet does not include reptiles, rodents, ferrets, piranhas, chickens, pigs or ducks. If this definition conflicts with any Indiana law or regulations restricting the owning or keeping of pets in dwelling accommodations, the Indiana law or regulations shall apply. This definition shall not include service animals that are used to assist the disabled.

Temporary visiting pet is a common household pet not owned by a tenant that is on ECHA property.

 - b. The pet deposit must be paid prior to the pet being brought onto the premises.
 - c. The pet deposit may be used by the ECHA, after the tenant has vacated the unit or no longer owns or keeps a pet in the dwelling unit, to pay reasonable expenses directly attributable to the presence of the pet in the project, including, but not limited to, the cost of repairs and replacements to the fumigation of the tenant's dwelling unit.
 - d. The pet deposit may also be used by the ECHA to provide the cost of an animal care facility in circumstances where the ECHA has had to remove the pet to such.
 - e. The unused portion of the pet deposit will be refunded to the tenant within thirty (30) days after the tenant vacates the unit or no longer owns or keeps a pet in the dwelling unit.
3. Maintenance Fee
 - a. In addition to the security deposit, the resident will be required to pay a maintenance fee of $5.00 per occurrence for failure to maintain in accordance with the provisions stated in this Pet Policy. The purpose of this fee is to reimburse the ECHA for the additional maintenance of the unit and grounds which are attributed to the pet. The priorities are designed to build upon successful existing activities and introduce new activities to enhance the City's ability to address the needs of low and moderate income citizens of the city. Many of the priorities or programs to be funded in the upcoming years are being administered by agencies and organizations that have been associated with the City and have valuable expertise and experience in implementing the City's housing goals.

A. PHDEP Plan Summary

In the space below, summarize the PHDEP strategy to address the needs of the target population/target area(s). Your summary should briefly identify: the broad goals and objectives, the role of plan partners, and your system or process for monitoring and evaluating PHDEP-funded activities. This summary should not exceed 5-10 sentences.

The PHDEP is very crucial to combating drug abuse and related criminal activities. The degradation by drug abuse has no boundaries. All communities are at risk. Therefore, our efforts must be relentless and ongoing to combat this problem. We will reimburse law enforcement to place additional officers on the streets and offer up programs to youth and adults to give alternatives to drugs and crime. We will also offer education and upward mobility to residents.
